

On the 29th of November, Linda Simpson, Elrieke van Gelderen and Leopold Geldtmeijer performed in our house in Dishoek Zeeland.
We knew Linda, from the time she played in Magna Carta, but we didn't know Elrieke and Leopold.

When Linda offered us a house concert, to renew our friendship, we had no idea what to expect. It was a blind date. So we invited our friends and neighbours.
That night we removed our big table, brought in extra chairs and by 8 o'clock 24 people were waiting for the performance.

We, Frank and Jacqueline, as hosts, were a bit nervous: we felt responsible for the night, but the moment the three musicians started their acapella song, we knew: This is right!!
Linda sang some beautiful songs, Leopold on guitar, and after the break, Elrieke started her show. What a beautiful lady, and what a voice!! Why haven't we heard about her before??
She sings so easily, her voice is so clear and she obviously loves to perform

They finished the concert together with a beautiful song. Those two voices have a perfect harmony. All the people in the house were excited!! After the concert our neighbour Jan came up with some home-brewed beer, and there was good wine. The music we heard made us feel so good. Until after midnight we talked and talked. And days after the house-concert, our neighbours and friends are still talking about the great night at Dishoek.
That's what music can do!!
A house-concert like this brings music so close and people together.

Love and all good things for 2012!!
Jacqueline & Frank
