

Sisters in Song House Concert:

the ultimate unplugged sensation!

How often in your life do you get a chance to invite some real music stars to your home to do a house concert? Well, not very often! We decided to embrace this opportunity last November and made arrangements for a unique unplugged concert in our living room in Almere. It's so much fun to share this great experience and these fantastic songs with your family and friends! Of course there were some 'good old' Magna Carta songs to be heard, like Ticket To The Moon, but also quite a few new(er) ones, like Last Man Standing, Georgia's Song, This Is Your Day and Final Journey Home. Great material performed by superb musicians.

Looking back, this house concert was one of the highlights of 2011, made possible by three great people: Linda, Elrieke and Leopold. Thank you so very, very much!

If you ever get a chance to arrange a house concert like this - and there's enough information on this web site- please do not hesitate and do yourself and your friends a great favour: get this ultimate unplugged sensation to your living room! You won't regret it! Would You Do It Again? Definitely!
